Final Exam (100 points total)

Answer 4 out of these 6 questions. Use only the lecture slides, your lecture notes, and your textbook, but use those well if you want full credit. Make sure to think about what the question is asking, and what other things you could elaborate on in order to better answer the question. I would expect that your answer to each question will be about a page long (double-spaced, 12-point font). Good luck, thanks for a great quarter, and have a great summer break!

Question 1: How might the United States best avoid future conflict with China?

Question 2: Explain the monetary “trilemma”.

Question 3: Does Brexit represent the beginning of the end for the European Union as we know it?

Question 4: Does globalization increase or decrease global inequality.

Question 5: Explain how the existence of nuclear weapons might increase the chances for peace and stability.

Question 6: Explain NATO.

The very best answers will try to employ concepts and terms we learned in lecture, videos, or the textbook to these answers.
